DETAILED ACTION

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-17, 45-51, 54-57 and 60-63 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-28 of U.S. Patent No. 5,952,105. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the final product of the subject patent embraces a coating comprising a thermoplastic resin to which has been added cellulosic fiber, "sheared to the extent that the internal fibers are substantially exposed (claim 11 of the patent)," which embraces that claimed herein. The production of articles is expected of the patented invention, and the composites appear to be essentially identical. The source of the cellulose/lignin cellulose is within the recitations of the patented claims broadly.

of U.S. Patent No. 6,448,307. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the final product of the subject patent embraces a coating comprising a thermoplastic resin to which has been added cellulosic fiber, "sheared to the extent that the internal fibers are substantially exposed (claim 1 of the patent)," which embraces that claimed herein. The production of articles is shown in the patented invention, and the composites appear to be essentially identical. The source of the cellulose/lignin cellulose is within the recitations of the patented claims broadly.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5 and 9-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Laver, cited previously by applicants.

The reference to Laver teaches the identical product composites at column 6 (lines 13-24), the Abstract, column 8 (lines 18 et seq) and the claims. Note column 6 (lines 29-40) for the recitations of claims 3 and 5. Note column 6 (lines 48-64) for the recitations of instant claims 9-13, including a ratio of components of 80 to 20 to 100 to 0, and preferably 50 to 50. the flexural stress values would be inherent in the product of Laver, as recited in instant claims 15-17, since the compositions are otherwise identical.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-17, 48-51 and 57 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Laver, cited and for the reasons set out above.

The reference teaches essentially what is recited and claimed herein. Choice of a cellulose source, as recited in instant claims 4 and 6-8, would be a clear modification to one having an ordinary skill, especially in view of the teaching in Laver at column 6 (line 30), in reference to "any kind of waste cellulosic material." Likewise, the manipulation of the size of the fiber, and the subsequently larger exposed surface area, would have been an obvious modification to an artisan in view of the teachings of the patent.
